

From the toolkit of Lancashire's 'Prevent for Schools'

Extremists of ALL persuasions try to paint the world as black and white, accentuating division and difference, and exploiting fears based on ignorance or prejudice

In 'child's speak':

People who have extreme views or want to behave in an extreme way only see the world from their one point of view, they want to show the differences and try to divide people, they want to make other people fearful, because of their lack of understanding or prejudice